WILMINGTON — Where can I get a relaxing massage? What kind of services does Winchester Hospital Family Medicine provide? Is there a sports club that offers fitness classes in the early morning? Get the answer to these and many other questions at the first ever Wilmington Community Health & Wellness Fair to be held Saturday, March 14 from 9 a.m. to 12 p.m., at the Knights of Columbus.

The wellness fair is free to the public. There will be free health screenings, demonstrations, giveaways, a prize drawing, and more.

The event is sponsored by the Wilmington Memorial Library, the Department of Elderly Services, and the Wilmington-Tewksbury Chamber of Commerce.

Charlotte Wood, Assistant Director of the library, explained that over 40 local businesses and organizations specializing in physical, mental, and even financial wellness will participate.

"Even though it is part of the healthy aging series, the scope of the wellness fair is much broader," Wood said. "It definitely applies to adults of all ages."

Representatives will be there to discuss everything from stress management and physical therapy to insurance and senior living facilities.

The fair is an important opportunity for community members as pointed out by Director of Elderly Services Terri Marciello.

"It's a chance to come in and learn and also see what's available," she said. She further explained that often people do not know where to go in a crisis.

"It's great to get ahead and have the information," Marciello said. "We are all still learning; it's good for everybody."

North Wilmington station to be updated

WILMINGTON — A solution may be in sight for the issues posed by the North Wilmington MBTA commuter rail station.

The station has raised the ire of the town, as trains stopped at the station frequently block Route 62 just south of the Route 93 exit 40 interchange. This poses a serious public safety issue, as it prevents emergency vehicles from accessing a large portion of the northern side of town.

Additional questions were raised regarding whether the trains would continue to stop at the station, already a flag stop, at all hours, and whether it could be made more accessible to individuals with disabilities.

According to Massachusetts state senate minority leader Bruce Tarr, the town's legislative delegation was noti-

WILMINGTON — Town Manager Jeff Hull updated the Board of Selectmen on funding for upgrades at the Buzzell Senior Center on Feb. 10.

According to Hull, the funding primarily comes from two different sources. The first is a town appropriation budget line item, earmarking $16,946.89 for a number of different items including a new exhaust system in restrooms, lighting, HVAC in the kitchen and main function areas, and finishing hardwood floors.

The second source is a grant obtained through the town legislative delegation in the amount of $30,000, which includes work to the kitchen area (new cabinets with countertops, dishwasher, and microwave).

Hull also updated the board on Center activities outside of its normal 9 a.m. - 4:30 p.m. operat-

Director of the Chamber of Commerce, reports the organizers began by first reaching out to Chamber of Commerce members to participate. She applauds their response.

Vallee pointed out this gathering will not only educate residents about health and wellness issues and services, but it will also help to keep future wellness spending local.

People will know what services and programs are available nearby.

"It's a circle equation; then businesses have money to reinvest in the town's local activities like sports organizations, charities, and such," she said. "If everyone is working together, then the town will thrive as a whole."

Vallee also pointed out another key benefit of the event for business participants.

"It's not just about members of the community being on site at the fair, but also the gathering of so many businesses will be a great networking opportunity among them," she explained. "There will be new business-to-business connections as well."

It's Your Money by Todd Brisbois

DON'T FALL FOR MYTH-LEADING INFORMATION ON TAX REFUNDS — PART II —

Myth 1: Ordering a tax transcript is a 'secret way' to get a refund date. Doing so will not help taxpayers find out when they will get their refund. "Where's My Refund?" tells the taxpayer their tax return has been received and if the IRS has approved or sent the refund.

Myth 2: "Where's My Refund?" must be wrong because there's no deposit date yet. Updates to "Where's My Refund?" on both IRS.gov are made once each day. These updates are usually made overnight. Even though the IRS issues most refunds in less than 21 days, it's possible a refund may take longer. This means that in some cases, a taxpayer who filed later may receive their refund sooner than someone who filed earlier in the season. The IRS contacts a taxpayer by mail when it needs more information to process their tax return. Taxpayers should also remember to consider the time it takes for the banks to post the refund to the taxpayer's account. Taxpayers waiting for a refund in the mail should plan for the time it takes a check to arrive.

Myth 3: "Where's My Refund?" must be wrong because a refund amount is less than expected. Situations that could decrease a refund include:

- The taxpayer made math errors or mistakes
- The taxpayer owes federal taxes for a prior year
- The taxpayer owes state taxes, child support, student loans or other delinquent federal nontax obligations
- The IRS holds a portion of the refund while it reviews an item claimed on the return

The IRS will mail the taxpayer a letter of explanation if these adjustments are made.

fied on a recent conference call that the MBTA has decided to address the situation with its own funding. This comes in the wake of the town's decision to set $180,000 aside in a supplemental fund to develop a solution.

Tarr noted that this supplemental fund could now be earmarked for other projects, and noted that the delegation is in the process of transferring the funds to the town before the end of the fiscal year.

The MBTA proposes using recycled materials to upgrade the station.

"In another location... the MBTA used bridge sections from a dismantled bridge as the structural members of the platform, and that is exactly what is intended to happen here," said Tarr.

He went on to add that part of the process would be temperature and condition dependent.

"A new skid surface has to be adhered to the metal from the recycled bridge sections, and because of the size of those sections, that cannot happen outside."

Tarr thanked both Representatives Dave Robertson and Ken Gordon, as well as members of the board for their collaborative effort.

"This is a prime example of the collaborative things that we do together, and what we can achieve if we continue to do that," Tarr said.

Robertson also praised the sustainable nature of the project.

"This project makes great use of recycled materials, which saves both time and money," he said.

He added that the upgrades would create the "semblance of a real station," and that updated estimates would include the cost of overhangs, lighting, and landscaping. He also noted that optimistically, if construction proceeds according to plan, improvements could be made for parking and sidewalk areas.

"We're very excited about that," he added.

Board Chair Greg Bendel noted that Selectman Kevin Caira had been chair when the round of discussions began, and that he continues to sit in on conference calls pertaining to the station. Bendel also stated that he was pleased to hear that a solution to the issue is on the horizon.

"I think from a public safety standpoint, this is... going to be well-received by our community," he said.

News and notes from WCTV

By SHAUN NEVILLE
WCTV Executive Director

You just never know what you'll find in the WCTV archive.

In 1995, the Wilmington Strings Attached group hosted a group of students from Great Britain. It was described as a "music exchange program" to bring together students separated by the Atlantic Ocean.

The VHS tape from their visit was just uncovered last week in our storage bins. We dusted off the tape, digitized the footage and put up on YouTube. It's in pretty good shape considering the age. As many might remember, the trip included a welcome ceremony, a stop at the State House and concerts around the school department.

We thought our Wilmington audience would enjoy reliving these memories. But we didn't stop there.

WCTV's Youth and Content Coordinator Ryan Malvar searched to see if there was a Facebook Community Page for Holmfirth, England. Yes, it exists! He signed in and got permission to post the link with the back-story.

The post was instantly flooded with likes and comments. A person who was part of the program thanked us for finding the clips; someone spotted their daughter in the footage; another person remembered their classmates going on the trip. The teacher who helped organize things from England even got tagged.

The YouTube video now has hundreds of views.

We often talk about how anyone can watch WCTV online. We usually mean a grandparent can see their kid's football game or an aunt can watch a concert. It's not often we post something that has transatlantic appeal.

Congratulations to the organizers of this trip from 25 years ago. Your goal of bringing together two cultures through a shared passion for music is still paying dividends. WCTV is proud to be a platform to make that happen.

Here's your reminder that WCTV airs content from our archive every Thursday from 12 - 3 p.m. and 7 - 10 p.m. (Comcast 9/Verizon 37). We feature a new video every week and often try to find something that has some timely appeal. Last week, for example, we found a 2013 WHS girls basketball playoff game to celebrate this year's team winning the league title.

The WCTV YouTube Archive Channel has hundreds of videos dating back to the 1980s. More content is uploaded each week. We welcome folks to check it out and share what you find. We still have hundreds of tapes sitting in storage and will be continuing to digitize Wilmington's history so that future generations can see what the town was like around the turn of the century.

History:

North Wilmington in the early 1950s

By LARZ F. NEILSON

One of my earliest memories is going to the North Wilmington Post Office, a small building next to Buck Bros. grocery store. This would have been in the very early 1950s. It was a great privilege to get the mail, and there was some rivalry as to which boy would get the task. The mail boxes had combination locks, but with three boxes to collect, it was simpler to ask at the window.

"Norton, Neilson and Cates," I'd say.

The Nortons were our grandparents, living two doors away on High Street. Howard and Emma Cates lived next door and the path to the Nortons went through their yard.

At the window would be either Postmistress Annie Gallagher or clerk Roseanne Babine, who lived on Federal Hill. It was fascinating to watch Miss Babine fan out a handful of envelopes and rapidly cancel each stamp.

In the lobby were two glass display cases. They were empty, but we were told they were once used to display candy. One of them ended up at the Harnden Tavern, where it contains the collection of Native American artifacts collected by my father, Capt. Larz Neilson and Ernest "Buster" Eames.

Capt. Larz became postmaster in 1956, shortly after starting the Town Crier. I would often go to the back door to ask if we could go fishing.

A stop in North Wilmington always meant a visit to Buck's store. Of particular interest were the cookie bins, near the back of the store. At the left side of the store was the elaborate hand-cranked cash register. Rodney or Walter Buck or Walter Surrence would usually add up the prices on a paper bag and then enter the sale in the register.

The right side of the building was a separate room with sacks of grain, seed, feed and fertilizer. Outside the store were two gas pumps, at the front left of the building. There were no gas stations in North Wilmington until 1957, when "Dice" O'Neil built a Gulf station at the corner of Shady Lane Drive.

The name Buck Bros. did not come from owner Rodney Buck and his brother Walter, but from their father, Herbert and his two brothers, George and Sydney. Herbert ran the store in North Wilmington and also served as a selectman and state representative. He died in 1912 at age 50. George ran the other Buck Bros. store in Wilmington Square.

The Elia brothers, John and Mike, bought the store in 1956.

Across the street was the train depot, with a freight barn in back. The waiting room was L-shaped with doors facing each side of the building. There was a ticket agent's office with a bay window, giving a view of the tracks in either direction, and a ticket window facing into the waiting room. Heat was provided by a large pot-bellied coal stove. There was usually a pile of nut coal behind the building for the stove.

Across the tracks was a lean-to shelter for passengers awaiting the Boston trains. The arrival of the locomotive could be frightening for a small child, as the large, snorting black beast with giant wheels closed in the front of the shelter.

Nearby was Harriman's Tannery, the town's largest industry, employing about 60 men. The odors from the tannery caused conductors on the railroad to announce, "North Wilmington, by the smell!" It shut down in 1952 after people complained about the odor.

Across the street from the tannery was the Whitefield School, a four-room elementary school. My older brother started school there in 1949, and our grandfather Norton would pick him up in the 1940 Chevy. I distinctly remember the tannery odor from those early visits to the school. Shortly after I started school, the tannery shut down.

Next-door to the school was the 1730 House, dating from early colonial times, where in the 1950s, Elizabeth Tibbetts had a gift and penny candy shop. The house had been called the Squire Eames house, for Samuel Eames, selectman and town clerk in the early 1800s.

In the post bellum era, it became known as the Shamrock, where Mike and Susan McEnroe would board Irishmen working in the tannery.

Middlesex Sheriff's Office Warrant Apprehension Unit participated in nearly 500 arrests in 2019

BILLERICA — Members of the Middlesex Sheriff's Office (MSO) Warrant Apprehension Unit made — or assisted in — 483 arrests in calendar year 2019, Sheriff Peter J. Koutoujian announced.

In total, those 483 people were wanted on more than 700 warrants — both bench and default — and faced over 1,000 felony charges and another 700-plus misdemeanors.

Currently, the MSO's Warrant Apprehension Unit is comprised of three deputy sheriffs and a member of the Lowell Police Department.

"The members of the Warrant Apprehension Unit work hand-in-hand with our local, state and federal partners to locate and apprehend those who have attempted to evade justice," said Sheriff Koutoujian. "Many of these individuals are suspected of serious crimes ranging from domestic violence and rape to home invasion, firearms and murder charges."

Working in conjunction with state and municipal police, Warrant Apprehension Unit members assisted in the arrests of multiple homicide suspects in 2019 including 22-year-old Joseph McGillicuddy, who was wanted in connection with the 2018 death of 24-year-old Anthony Luna in Lowell.

"The Lowell Police Department has seen the benefits of working collaboratively with many law enforcement partners over the years," said Lowell Police Superintendent Kelly Richardson. "Having the ability to work with the Massachusetts State Police, the Middlesex Sheriff's Office and the Middlesex District Attorney's Office ensures that people that evade responsibility for their unlawful actions are brought to justice. As the numbers reflect, this partnership has made great strides in making our streets a safer place for our community and for that I am personally grateful."

Warrant Apprehension Unit deputies also worked with members of the Massachusetts State Police Violent Fugitive Apprehension Section, Marlborough and Westborough Police Departments to locate and apprehend 34-year-old Dennis Orellana, of Westborough, and 26-year-old Hilin Orellana, of Marlborough on charges of rape of child following an investigation by Marlborough Police investigators.

In addition to the 483 arrests, the team worked to return 19 people previously captured by law enforcement outside the Commonwealth to face charges in Massachusetts, including individuals wanted for charges including kidnapping, stalking, indecent assault & battery on a child under 14, and rape of a child.

"Our office relies on our collaborative partnership with the Middlesex Sheriff's Warrant Apprehension Unit to make certain that individuals facing criminal charges in Massachusetts are held accountable for their actions. These cases involve serious allegations and often involve individuals who pose a significant danger to the community, making this work critical to protecting public safety," said Middlesex District Attorney Marian Ryan.

Individuals with information regarding wanted fugitives within Middlesex County may contact the Warrant Apprehension Unit at 617-682-4890.

Letters to the editor

Warren's name accidentally missing from primary article

To the editor,
I read this week's Town Crier, including the article about presidential primary voting in Tewksbury. I wanted to register my concern that on page 11 where the article is continued and the candidates of the primary races are listed out, Senator Elizabeth Warren alone is missing. I am sure it is an honest omission as it was written by a TMHS intern.

from the fact that Senator Warren has had some instances where her candidacy has been left off of national polls, and the like, contributing to accusations of "media erasure" of her participation in this primary. With this primary race so hotly contested, I wanted to acknowledge Senator Warren's absence from the article.

Black History Month plus school vacation discussion

By PAUL J. ANDREWS
andrews@massupt.org
Mass. Ass'n. of School Superintendents
Member of Board of Winchester Hospital

Thanks for the folks that e-mailed me on the last column regarding unmarked blank checks that are being in some cases removed from the mail and made out to a different person, which turns a bank promotion to a customer (you) and ends up in a scammer's hands who has taken your mail and changed the name. I would advise banks to not send the promotional checks to you if you make that request of them.

Second, if someone banks at the Citizens Bank near Lahey, on Mall Road, information has been reached that the branch has been closed for those who normally use the facility.

Black History Month

While I should have commented about this earlier in the month, I did want to raise it in the form of a great quote: "Courageous conversations about race will not remedy inequity by design, nor will multicultural education or positive interactions across difference, by themselves. Our students also need high-quality cognitive instruction, productive struggle and strong competence that gets them to believe in themselves."

This powerful quote is from Zaretta Hammond, just an outstanding educator and gets to the issue real fast.

Schools struggle with the issues around racial education in general but in particular, knowing how best to handle some of the issues around education as best as possible, especially in the school districts in Town Crier land is vital. The month of February has been set aside as Black History Month and a time when some solid discussions could take place in all schools.

We have seen some great changes take place in seeing members of the black population take over leadership positions in government and business and on many boards and commissions, as well they should have years ago. I have found that some of my friends in that population have the brightest and realistic thinking process on so many wishes and feel we need to promote more of these educational leaders in our schools.

This does raise a question many superintendents or principals try to hire more of these fine educators and the number is usually just not there. I am not sure whether we do not try enough or there is a lack of candidates applying for admission to education positions in general.

Hammond also comments that "we have the opportunity to move toward being more culturally responsive and 'decolonize' the narrative in our discussions and texts. We need to look for books that go beyond typical themes, need to look for authentic coloring books and some available fictional stories around 'enabling.'"

Let me say that some of the folks of color, whether an official or simply a friend, provide me with some great insight and fabulous humor with wit like no other person I know. In fact I feel that all people of color have a special gene on "wit."

School vacation time

While I know the "February and April" school vacation weeks are up for discussion each year in setting the school calendar, for most, we have a negotiable issue. I really feel that the break in February is a great chance to change the air in any school and provide hopefully some rest for staff and students before launching this week towards the second half of the year. For most students, this means a change in schedule for parents, especially with both parents working these days. Hopefully, some added rest will mean a healthier student and school greets them this week.

JUST A NOTE: Again, thanks for your comments at andrews@massupt.org and in line with your suggestions I will add some of my Morning Pulse extractions: Coronavirus could impact five million companies worldwide; Coronavirus is making the US oil and gas sectors even sicker; Chief natural gas imperils climate fight for wind, solar; Dartmouth researchers study use of voice assistants in detecting dementia; Even with mortgage rates super low, you still need to shop around; Mortgage rates hover near record lows; Rural hospitals' margins erode; Italy hopes lower taxes will lure British pensioners to its villages; Spanish court ruling citing gender equality helps woman retire early; New Jersey invests in fossil fuels; Japan facing rising recession risks on heels of coronavirus; US life span lags other rich countries and Annuities are heading to 401 (k)s.

Senate Republicans seek MBTA pension fund review

BOSTON — Members of the Senate Republican Caucus, led by Senate Minority Leader Bruce Tarr (R-Gloucester), announced filing legislation to create and empower a comprehensive commission of stakeholders to address deepening concerns about the sustainability and stability of the MBTA Retirement Fund (MBTARF). The Tarr filed the legislation is co-sponsored by Senator Ryan Fattman (R-Webster) and Senator Dean Tran (R-Fitchburg).

The MBTARF's inability to meet its obligations has repeatedly resulted in taxpayers having to make large financial contributions to account for shortfalls — last fiscal year that totaled $118.2 million diverted from the state's general fund.

Recent news reports identifying the need for reforms have mirrored previous findings of media outlets, government watchdog organizations, and fiscal accountability whistleblowers, all of whom have called for greater scrutiny of the retirement fund. The Senators say there are too many questions about the fund's vulnerability, lack of transparency, and growing burdens on taxpayers and riders who must shore up the shortfalls.

"The persistent issues plaguing the MBTA Pension Fund demand analysis and reasoned action," said Senate Minority Leader Tarr (R-Gloucester). "We propose to scrutinize the current state of the pension fund by empanelling a commission of experts to recommend actions. If this fund falters, it puts at grave risk not only the ability to meet pension obligations to retirees, but it can stall the MBTA's ability to fully fund its core operations while also putting taxpayers on the hook. That's why these recommendations may include a total or partial transfer of T pension funds to the care of the state's pension fund."

The 11 members of the commission include appointments from Governor Charlie Baker, Attorney General Maura Healey, Treasurer Deborah Goldberg, the Secretary Of Administration and Finance, the Secretary Of Transportation, the executive director of the state's Pension Reserves Investment Management Board, members of organized labor, a member of the general public and others with expertise in transportation, finance and pension fund management.

The Senate Republican Caucus members have consistently pursued a bi-partisan effort to confront the looming issue and point to several recent Republican sponsored budget amendments, aimed at addressing the issue of the fund's privately held accounting, which garnered them overwhelming support of Senators of both parties.

"This MBTA pension fund examination will help assure the public that our state is continuing to address the critically important issue of funding our public transportation system in the most sustainable way possible," said Senator Ryan Fattman (R-Sutton). "I look forward to working with my colleagues in a bipartisan fashion to address these concerns and get a fuller picture of the pension fund's liability."

Some estimates peg the magnitude of the privately run pension fund's liabilities as growing larger each year. Managers of the MBTARF must satisfy its 6,800 retirees; however, the gap in what it takes in from employee contributions and what it must pay could be as much as $1.5 billion.

Tarr warned that should the retirement fund falter or fail there could be several layers of serious financial consequences which add risk for the employees and retirees who depend on the fund. He pointed out that the MBTA could have its ability to fund its operations, safety improvements, maintenance, and infrastructure projects seriously undermined.

Book Stew Review

'What Maisie Knew' by Henry James

By EILEEN MACDOUGALL

The heartbreaking 2013 movie, and an evocative paperback cover by Edward Gorey, led me to buy this 1908 novel from Wilmington's own Book Store Next Door.

Custody of Maisie, a six-year-old daughter of divorce, is shared by her venal father, vain mother, a nanny, and her mother's paramour. Maisie herself tries again and again to predict the actions of this horrible tribe of alleged grownups and strategize before she falls between the cracks.

It's kind of astounding that Henry James wrote a novel of this situation at least some 60 years before Kramer vs Kramer. Also progressive for the time period is that blame falls equally to both parents, and there's no automatic assumption that every woman possesses a maternal instinct — in fact, it's the mother's boyfriend who seems to be the most responsible adult in the room — until he isn't.

The outdated, overly florid language makes for a very difficult read, but there are gems of forgotten verbiage — "animadvert," "peccant" — that make for tiny treasure hunt moments.

Elaine M. Hachey

Community advocate for people with disabilities

Elaine Marie Hachey, 80, formerly of Wilmington, passed peacefully at the St. Cloud Hospital in St. Cloud, Florida on Sunday, Feb. 23, 2020.

Elaine was born in Watertown on May 25, 1939. Elaine married CMS James Robert Hachey USAF in Medford. They moved to Wilmington and raised four children.

Elaine was a devout Catholic and raised her family in the Catholic faith as a member of Wilmington's St. Thomas of Villanova church. Joining the Knights of Columbus community, Elaine and Jim met other young families, developing friendships that spanned decades.

Elaine was well known for her independent spirit. She taught many of her women friends who were originally from the city, how to drive in the car-dependent suburbs.

Elaine became a community resource advocate for families and senior citizens navigating life with disabilities after her daughter, Patricia Ann, became disabled in 1973.

Elaine successfully lobbied MA State Representative Jim Micelli and Senator Ted Kennedy to secure access to a proper skilled nursing care facility for her daughter.

She then volunteered with many community service agencies in Wilmington such as the Wilmington Council on Aging, and the Wilmington Housing Authority where she served as board treasurer.

Elaine co-founded the organization AIM — Handicap Access Is Mandatory, an organization that encouraged local businesses to comply with new, Massachusetts ADA laws and regulations. Elaine also volunteered with her husband Jim Hachey Sr. in many of his community efforts — The Commissary — Wilmington's Food Pantry, the Community Fund, and for the Wilmington Fourth of July Committee.

A staunch democrat, Elaine served as Chairwoman of the Wilmington Democratic Town Committee and acted as campaign manager for a handful of local and state politicians. Always one to support the underdog, it wasn't until 1983 when her chosen candidate won.

She was a delegate at the State Democratic convention and attended Governor Michael Dukakis' inaugural ball.

Elaine was an active member of the American Legion in Wilmington and later, at Post 10 in Kissimmee, Florida.

Professionally, Elaine owned and ran a successful catering company providing daily service to the Burlington and Andover corporate offices of Nynex, and did corporate events and weddings.

Elaine and Jim retired to Kissimmee, Florida and lived out much of their golden years surrounded by immediate family, and the lights of her life — her beloved grandchildren.

After a debilitating fall in 2012, Elaine resided at the Avanté of St. Cloud skilled nursing facility. A respected resident, Elaine was nurtured by many kind caregivers at Avanté whom she loved dearly.

She is survived by her daughter Mary L. Nichols of Saint Cloud, FL, her son James R. Hachey Jr., his wife Linda, and daughter Dorothy Hachey of Seattle, WA.

Her loving grandchildren Matthew O'Doherty, Holly Nichols, Connor Hachey, Brianna Hachey, Lukas Hachey, Makie Koizumi - Hachey, Seiji Koizumi - Hachey and Isamu Koizumi - Hachey.

She is pre-deceased by her devoted husband James Robert Hachey Sr., her daughter Patricia A. Hachey, brothers Thomas and Robert Bucci and mother, Dorothy (Walsh) Bucci.

~Recycling Tip of the Week~

Be sure the items you put in the recycling bin are empty, clean and dry. Cardboard and clear plastic egg cartons can be recycled. Foam egg cartons must go in the trash.

Don't Drip and Drive:

Check for auto fluid leaks and get them repaired. Car fluids that leak into the ground can pollute waterways, and rain sends the runoff into our rivers and streams.

Hit the beach this summer winter for relaxation

By HEATHER BURNS
News Correspondent

I've always thought that nothing was as calming as the repetitive, yet restful sound of waves crashing against the shore. The smell and taste of salt in the air and the warming comfort of sunshine on your face can always drop your anxiety level by a notch or two.

These may be the reason why the New England seashore is a favorite summer destination for so many.

Beach lovers are willing to fight the summer traffic of the Sagamore Bridge, the Hampton Beach toll booths, or the bumper to bumper traffic of Ogunquit Center every summer just to spend a few relaxing hours in the sun.

Another part of the summer beach ritual is to enjoy a fresh seafood dinner at your favorite restaurant or browse the quaint seaside shops of your favorite beach area.

Summer vacation is still a long way away, but the winter weather is no reason to stay away from the beautiful New England coast.

Sure you may not want to run and jump head first into the ocean waters in early March, but New England beach towns still have more to offer than just a refreshing dip in the ocean.

There are many things to enjoy at the beach in wintertime that you may overlook during the busy summer season.

There is little to no traffic at this time of year. It is easy to take a slow coastal drive without angry honks from hurried tourists or enjoy a stroll on the beach without stepping over blankets, beach toys and chairs.

You may be thinking it is just too cold to enjoy any outdoor beach activities at this time of year, but don't let the thought of winter weather stop you.

Just remember the old saying, "There are no bad weather days, just bad clothing decisions."

When planning your winter trip to the beach don't dress for fashion. Wear plenty of warm layers, including gloves, hats and scarves and wear warm, waterproof shoes or boots.

You could even choose to enjoy the beauty of the seashore from the warmth and comfort of your car.

Pack a winter "picnic" lunch of soup or chowder, fresh bread and cheese.

You are pretty much guaranteed to get a great parking spot with a view, without the crowds or the cost. Parking at the beach is free in the winter off season.

Winter is the perfect time for photo buffs to get great shots of Mother Nature's best work. The stoic beauty of the ocean can be captured in its undisturbed state of winter.

Snow, ice and raging storms add shades of beauty to the landscape and the quiet of a winter's day can be sensed in the images you take.

Winter also makes for a more opportune time to view birds and other marine life that may be a bit shy and hard to view when the crowds of summer are about.

There is nothing man's best friend likes more than a run on the beach. However, most public beaches do not allow dogs during the summer months. Now is the perfect opportunity for Fido to run and play on the empty beach, and the good news is that he already has a fur coat to keep him warm!

If you can't imagine going to the beach without your swimsuit, then plan an overnight trip.

Many hotels and inns are open during the winter and feature indoor pools or hot tubs to enjoy. Because of a large vacancy rate, most offer room rates at a discount during the off season.

Your favorite clam shack may be closed for the winter, but many restaurants in oceanside vacation communities stay open year round and offer specials and discounts to lure off season customers. It will also be a pleasant change to enjoy your favorite seafood dish without waiting two hours for a table.

The same goes for local shops. Many stay open year round and will offer last year's merchandise at huge savings to make room for next season's merchandise. You may want to check store hours, as they may be limited in the off season.

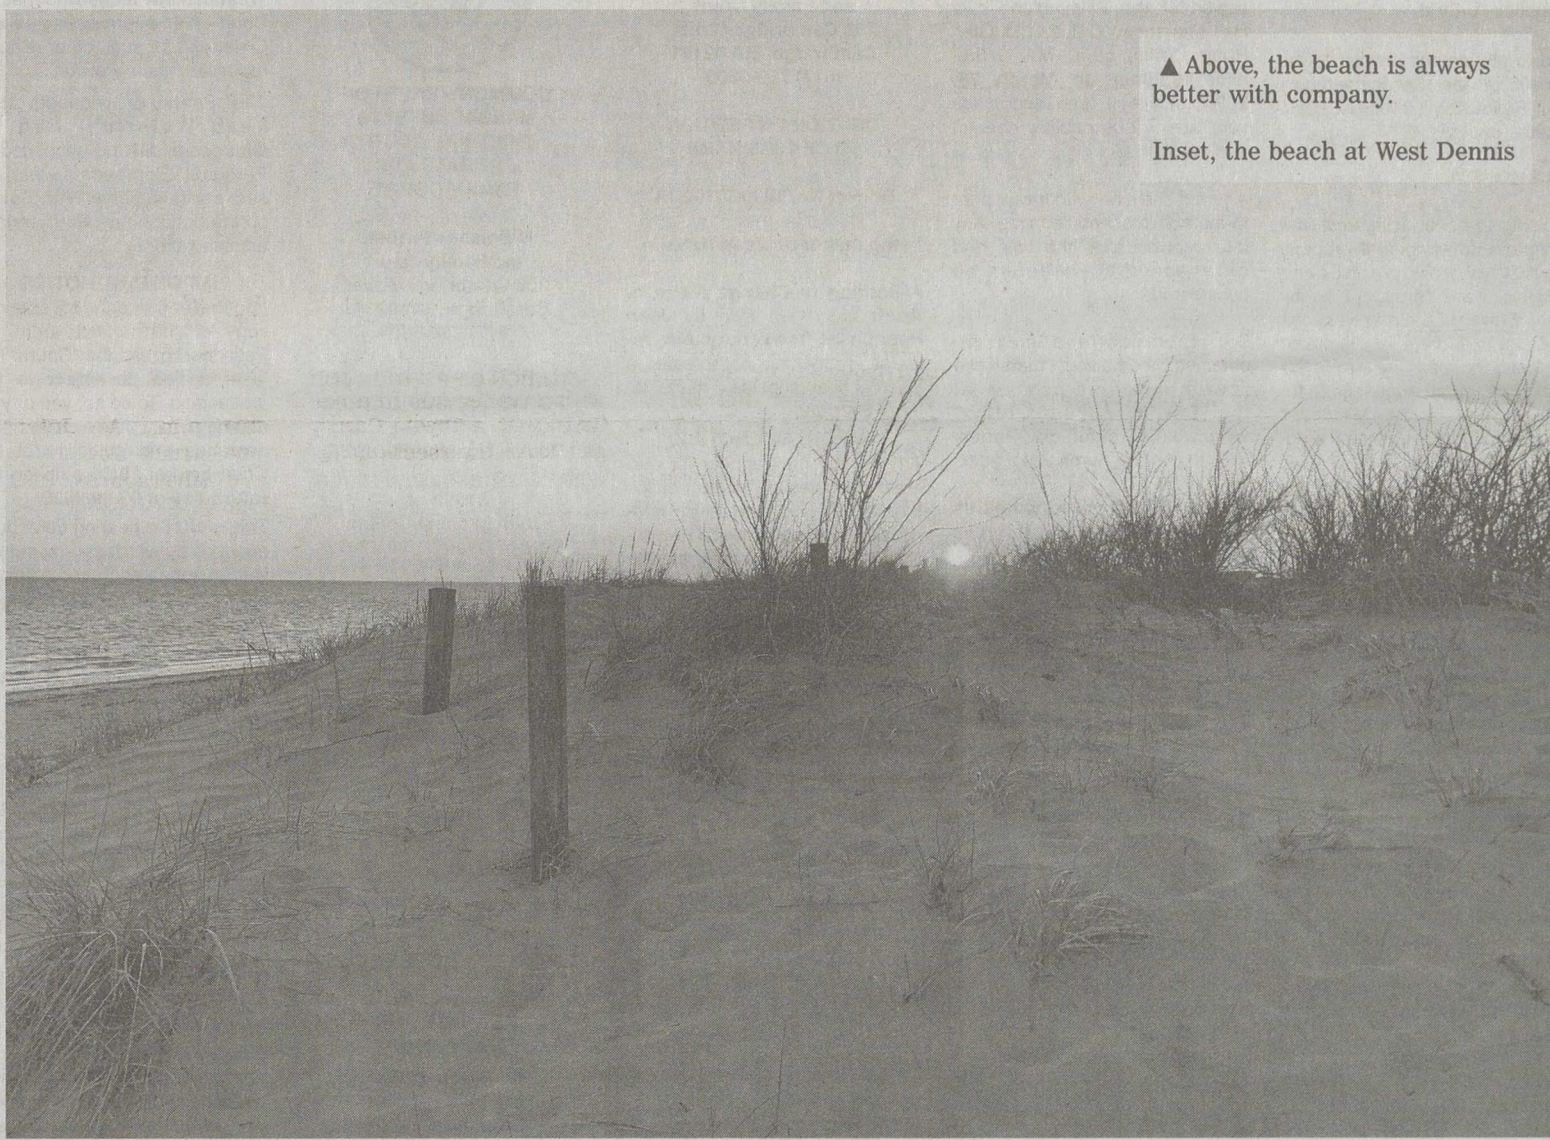

We have been spoiled this winter, as New England winters go, with the average temperature running higher than normal. Why not take advantage of the relatively warm winter we are experiencing by spending a relaxing day or weekend at your favorite beach.

Enjoy the peace and tranquility New England's coast has to offer while you can, because before you know it there will be a two mile back up at the Sagamore Bridge...

Van Gogh reimagined in Montreal, Canada

By PAIGE IMPINK
News Correspondent

Open until April 5, 2020, Imagine Van Gogh is an immersive experience in the art of Vincent Van ◀ Images cover the walls, floors and visitors to the Imagine Van Gogh experience in Montreal.

Gogh that is different than any you may have experienced. Housed in the giant warehouse-like art space of the Arsenal Contemporary Art in downtown Montreal, a restored shipyard, Imagine Van Gogh is a non-stop projection of Van Gogh's works and images.

Scenes from his life appear on enormous canvases which surround visitors, extending from the ceiling and spilling onto the floor, clothing and faces. According to the organizers, over 30 HD projectors send images to 20 screens placed around the art space and onto a diamond-shaped center pillar in the style of "Image Totale," a presentation style developed by Albert Plécy in the 1970s.

The works are from Van Gogh's Arles period, Saint-Rémy-de-Provence period and Auvers-sur-Oise period. Interspersed are photographs of Van Gogh and his family and the many places where he lived and drew his inspiration.

Vincent Van Gogh was born in the Netherlands in 1853. He was a tormented individual who took a while to find his calling. He was the son of a pastor and was himself a preacher for a while, a bookseller and an art dealer before studying painting in Belgium.

He eventually moved to Paris to live with his brother, Theo, and became part of the art scene in Paris in the 1880s. Van Gogh was inspired by Japanese art as well as the Impressionist style, spending time with Degas, Toulouse-Lautrec and Pissarro.

From Paris he moved to Provence in the South of France. Van Gogh had a famous falling out with artist Paul Gauguin, after which Van Gogh severed part of his own ear. He entered an asylum in Saint Rémy de Provence voluntarily, which became a time when he churned out many famous works.

Van Gogh's death in Paris in 1890 was the result of a self-inflicted gunshot wound. The paintings from his most prolific period of 1888 until his death are the main thrust of the exhibit. Visitors will recognize Van Gogh's several self-portraits along with The Starry Night, Sunflowers, Irises, Almonds Blossoms and the Church at Auvers, to name just a few.

The Arsenal has a timed ticket admission, and visitors follow a rope line through hanging interpretive panels which explain the life of Van Gogh. The panels are presented in both English and French as the exhibit is in Quebec.

As one enters the large space through black curtains and experiences the projections, there is a backdrop of incredibly moving music which moves through the room. Curated specifically for the program, the music of Bach, Mozart, Prokofiev, Schubert and others combines with the video images to transport visitors inside the paintings, essentially putting one in the scenes which are so vivid and bright.

If your travels include a trip to Montréal in the next month or so, do not miss this exceptional program. www.imagine-vangogh.ca

Town receives update on MS4 stormwater permit

fancy way of saying our drainage system."

This is in contrast with the combined sewer overflow systems present in some older cities, including Boston and Gloucester. Construction of such combined systems is no longer in practice "...for obvious health reasons," said Alumni.

The MS4 GP is a five-year permit. It was initially issued in 2003, and first expired in 2008. The town has kept up to date with it, and requirements were updated in 2018.

Alumni noted that understanding the watershed areas and sub-areas in town is key to maintaining permit requirements.

"That's the main purpose of this permit, it's about water quality," he said.

The minimum control measures specified by the permit include public education and outreach, public involvement and participation, illicit discharge detection and elimination (including GIS mapping and outfall inspections), construction site stormwater controls, post-construction stormwater management, and good housekeeping practices.

Alumni reiterated the importance of keeping the community up to date on good practices relating to water quality.

"This whole permit has to be transparent... all the reports, all the data," he said.

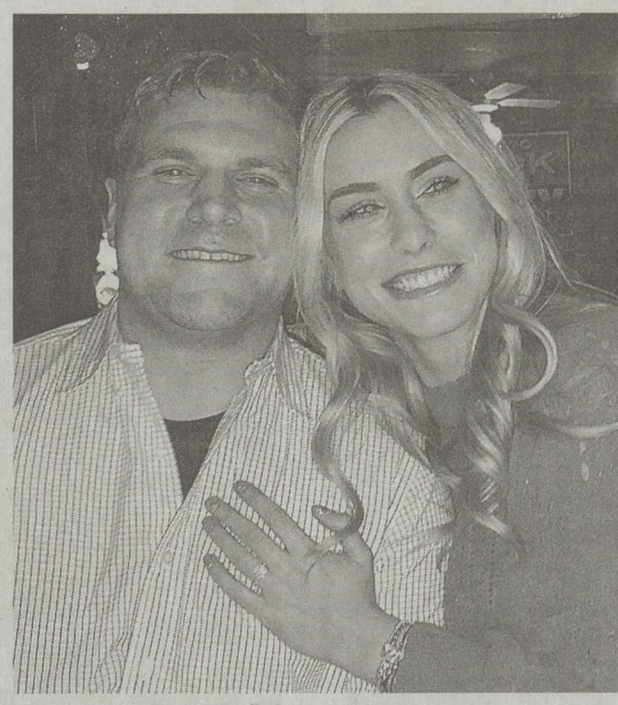

He noted that the EPA requires that information be posted online.

Alumni stated that the town is currently requesting $50,000 as part of the town's FY 2021 capital budget in order to implement the permit. This includes the detention basin rehab program (10-15 basins at $2,000-$3,000 per basin) Northern Middlesex Council of Government ($4,800 membership), lab testing ($5,000), and educational messaging ($3,000).

Selectman Jonathan Eaton asked for specifics regarding community engagement.

"Is there any examples you can give where you want folks calling the town if they see something, where it's not obvious?" he asked.

DPW operations manager and tree warden Jamie Magaldi noted that actions as simple as moving leaves could be implemented, but also to be alert for strange odors coming from storm drains. He noted this could indicate the presence of pet waste, or a wash water connection.

ing hours. These include opening on the third Thursday of the month until 7 p.m., from May through October, and special Saturday programs which include a talent show, grandparents' day, and a trivia breakfast.

He also noted the potential to expand evening hours to begin in March instead of May.

Selectman Jomarie O'Mahony stated that, as the town develops a plan for a new facility, it should develop a plan to maximize its use.

"I would just kind of want to get a better idea, and I don't know whether this would Once we have a plan for a facility, what the expectation would be for hours of use," she said. "If we're going to have a beautiful new building that might have the ability to service other activities on the weekends, I would want that to be explored and considered."

Selectman Greg Bendel

also expressed interest in exploring the facility use plan in greater depth, but suggested waiting until after Town Meeting to do so.

"We ought to revisit this and see what's best," he said.

He also noted that conversations with residents led him to believe further hours of operation would be met with appreciation by many in town.

"I think we ought to really seriously explore keeping it open later at night," he added.

Selectman Jonathan Eaton suggested that, based on the inhabitant bylaw, the power to expand the hours of the facility is likely in the hands of the Elderly Services Commission.

"If the Elderly Services Commission wishes to expand hours, then they would want to reach out... contact Mr. Hull, and I think at that point it would be appropriate to put in front of us," he said.

Wildcats jump past No. 4 seed Marblehead

On Tuesday night, the Wilmington High School Boys Hockey team came through with an upset win over No. 4 seed Marblehead, 3-1, in the first round of the Division 2 North Sectional Tournament played at the Chelmsford Forum. Once the final buzzer went off, senior captain Jared Venezia celebrates with the crowd.

Upset victory pushes Wilmington to quarterfinal round on Friday

By JAMIE POTE

jamiepote@hotmail.com
CHELMSFORD - For the second time in three years, the Wilmington High School boys' hockey team has pulled off a big upset in the first round of the Division 2 North Sectional Tournament.

Back in 2018, the 'Cats were the No. 14 seed and knocked off the No. 3 seed Lynnfield, 2-1. And on Tuesday night, the No. 13 seed Wildcats knocked off a very strong No. 4 seed Marblehead, 3-1, played at the Chelmsford Forum.

With the win, Wilmington (10-8-3) will now play former Cape Ann League rival, No. 5 Triton Regional (15-4-2) - who got by No. 12 Winthrop 1-0 on Tuesday night - on Friday at the O'Brien Rink in Woburn beginning at 6:00 pm.

Should the 'Cats prevail in that game, they will face the winner of No. 1 Masconomet/No. 8 Boston Latin on Tuesday back at the Forum with the time to be announced.

Much like they have done all season, the 'Cats have relied heavily on their goalie, while getting timely goals. Tuesday night junior Sam Cedrone was absolutely magnificent from the start of the game, turning away 40-of-41 shots, while the one goal that went in was a deflection off one of his player's sticks.

"Survive and move on is the name of the game," said head coach Steve Scanlon. "I thought we had a good start, but when things were starting to not go our way, we started to get flustered. We gave up the fluke goal and we fell apart and were just unfocused. Then we played a better second period, we clamped down defensively and (Cedrone) was terrific. It's gotten to a point where we really have to depend on him. He made some really good saves, particularly late and then we got the goals when we needed to."

Marblehead was missing two starting defensemen, and had to shift one of their top players Will Shull back to the blue line, and he was the one who got credited with the goal, coming at the 4:01 mark of the game.

Over the next five or six minutes, the 'Cats were vastly outplayed but senior Zach Kincaid bailed them out. After Cedrone made two huge saves, the puck bounced onto the stick of Kincaid on the left wing boards. He quickly moved up the ice and as he was coming into the Magicians' zone, he found himself on a 2-on-1, while another teammate was trailing the play. Kincaid from the left circle looked to pass but the defenseman started to go down, and as that happened, Kincaid rifled a hard snap shot to the top right hand corner for a beautiful - and huge - goal.

"Kincaid's goal was huge for us and very similar to the game winner he got against Stoneham," said Scanlon. "He really snapped it to the top corner and he almost got a second one. He went to the same spot and the shot

CHELMSFORD - Last year, Sam Cedrone wasn't even playing hockey. Two years ago, he was on the JV team.

Tuesday night, he was not only the starting goalie for the Wilmington High Boys' Hockey team in their state tournament opener, but he was the star of the game - playing the game of his life. The junior turned away 40-of-41 shots, including 18 in the first period and 14 in

Girls Hoop team draws Somerville

By MIKE IPPOLITO
Sports Correspondent

sports@yourtowncrier.com
WILMINGTON - Every team, regardless of the sport, wants to be playing at their best when post-season play begins.

In the case of the Wilmington High Girls Basketball team, it would be hard to say they are necessarily peaking at the right time, mainly because they have been playing at such a consistently high level over the past two months, but with the post season beginning this week, it would be fair to say they are playing some of their best basketball of the season with the tournament looming.

The Wildcats opened up post season play on Wednesday night as the

No. 4 seed in the MIAA Division 2 North Sectional Tournament, hosting No. 13 Somerville at Cushing Gymnasium. Results of the game were unavailable as of press time, but the Wildcats certainly seemed well prepared heading into the game and into the tournament.

After an 0-3 start to the season the Wildcats finished the season with a 15-5 overall record, including a 12-4 mark in the Middlesex League Freedom Division, earning them the program's first league title since 2012, winning 13 games in a row at one point.

They wrapped their regular season in style last week with a thrilling comeback victory over non-league rival Groton-Dunstable in the St. Mary's Tournament.

"We have had some really solid stretches during the last 17 games, and our last game vs. Groton Dunstable, I think our last 14 minutes of that game could be considered our best 12 or so minutes of the season," Wilmington coach Jessica Robinson said. "We are definitely hoping to build off of that. I know the girls are excited and ready to go, we have had some really good and productive practices over the vacation week."

As for their matchup with Somerville, of course anything can happen in post season play, where upsets occur every year in the early rounds. While

Ganley reaches state finals; also wins No. 100

WAYLAND - Winning 100 matches as a high school wrestler is an incredible achievement, accomplished by very few, and generally met with a tremendous celebration. With that being said, it is understandably not very often that the 100th win of a high school wrestler's career can fly almost completely under the radar.

But that was the case for Wilmington High junior Joe Ganley this past weekend as he competed at the impressive in the eyes of his coach, Joel McKenna.

Ganley became just the 12th wrestler in the history of the Wilmington program to earn 100 wins, joining Derek Hanley (153), Steve Sughrue (133), Evan Walsh (132), Michael Sorrentino (123), Cody Halliday (121), Roman Walsh (117), Sam Jennings (113), Alex Furlong (108), Shawn Adams and Fox Maxwell (105) and Mike St. Aubin (100).

"It is fantastic. He is in some great company with some of the elite wrestlers in Wilmington history,"

Wilmington sends three wrestlers to Division 3 State meet

By MIKE IPPOLITO
Sports Correspondent

sports@yourtowncrier.com
WAYLAND - While the regular season may have been a struggle at times for the Wilmington High Wrestling team due to a depleted roster, the post season offered a chance for some Wildcats stars to show what they can do against some of the best wrestlers in the state.

Over the past couple of weeks some members of the Wildcats have done just that, first at the Division 2 North Sectionals two weeks ago, and most recently this past weekend at the Division 3 State Tournament at Wayland High School.

The Wildcats sent three wrestlers to the tournament, and each of them came away with at least one win, while one, junior Joe Ganley, advanced all the way to the finals.

Sophomore Luke Vitale (106 pounds) and junior Shane Penney (132) each went 1-2 at the tournament, while Ganley was 3-1. As McKenna points out, any win at the state tournament is an accomplishment to be proud of.

"Some guys, some good wrestlers, battle all four years and can't get a win at the state tournament," McKenna said. "Being able to experience that is very special."

Ganley had the best day of all the Wildcats, advancing all the way to the finals at 126 pounds before being eliminated by Connor Keegan of Sandwich. Ganley, coming off winning the Division 3 North Sectional Tournament last weekend, had rolled to victory in his first three matches leading up to the final.

He started his tournament with a pair of wins on Friday afternoon, getting the better of Oliver Cerne of Wayland in the first round in a time of 3:41. The win was the 100th of Ganley's career and propelled him into the quarterfinals where he pinned Devin Lewis of Hampden Charter School in a time of 1:45. In his first match of the day on Saturday Ganley powered his way to a 12-4 major decision over Alex Turcotte of Norton before being stopped by Keegan in a 6-1 decision.

"Joe had a dominant tournament," McKenna said. "In the finals, he just ran into a very tough competitor. Joe had beaten him earlier in the year, and he was wrestling great all weekend, so we felt good going in, but he wasn't able to get his offense going like he wanted to."

"I think the kid kind of knew what to expect, having faced Joe before, and he did some things to slow him down."

The loss in the finals, however, could not diminish what was a great performance in the tournament by Ganley, who became just the fourth underclassman in school history to advance to the finals of the state tournament, joining Derek Hanley, Steve Sughrue and Sean Adams.

"It stings right now for Joe, but he has had a great season, and he will get a chance to continue this weekend at All-States," McKenna said. "It was a great experience for him. I knew he wanted to do better, but now he knows what to expect in a situation like that and he will be ready to get back there next year as a senior."

Penney is another junior for the Wildcats who has had an outstanding season, including earning a fourth place finish at last week's Division 3 North Sectional. He did not place in the states, going 1-2 for the tournament, earning his lone win over Nick Crupi of Ashland in a major decision by a score of 14-0, but he actually wrestled very well.

He started his day on Friday by putting up a tremendous battle against number two seed Mike LaFreniere of Taconic Regional. Penney ultimately wound up getting pinned by his talented opponent, but he trailed only 2-0 at the time and gave LaFreniere all he could handle.

"This was Shane's third time at the state tournament, so he kind of knew what to expect and that is a great weapon to have," McKenna said. "We knew he had a tough draw, but he went out and did a great job. That kid is very strong, but Joe is a battler. I think Shane took the kid by surprise. I don't think he knew what was coming at him in the first round."

Penney was eventually eliminated from the tournament in a 6-4 overtime loss to Josh Bounelle of Franklin Country.

Like Ganley, Penney will look to return to the state tournament next season, as will Luke Vitale, who competed at the tournament this season as just a sophomore. Vitale had finished second at last week's sectional tournament, and he went 1-2 this week at states.

"Being able to see what he has accomplished this season as a first year wrestler, and the way he has grown into someone who can win a match at the state tournament has been great," McKenna said. "At the beginning of the year, he was still learning how to prepare and keep his weight and things like that, and now at the end of the year, he qualifies for states and picks up a win."

Vitale's win came over Matthew Small of Gateway, with Vitale winning by pin in a time of 1:27.

Ganley will look to make the Wildcats proud this weekend when he competes at the All-State Tournament at Methuen High School starting on Friday. McKenna feels like Ganley can do well against the best competition the state has to offer.

"I think his goal all year has been to get to All-States and to place at All-States," McKenna said. "He has given himself that opportunity and he can certainly compete with anybody he will face at the tournament."

Wilmington High junior Joe Ganley became the 12th wrestler in program history to notch 100 wins, doing so in this weekend's Division 3 State Meet where he finished second. (courtesy photo).

Division 3 State Tournament at Wayland High School. Ganley, the No. 1 seed at 126 pounds, not surprisingly picked up a win in his first match of the tournament on Friday, pinning Oliver Cerne of Wayland in a time of 3:41. But this was no ordinary first round win by the No.

McKenna said. "One hundred wins is a very difficult goal, so to be able to accomplish that is pretty special. And to do it in just three years like Joe did is pretty amazing."

As for the key to his success, Ganley credits the countless hours he has put in for the past three years

Girls Hockey to open playoffs against Falmouth

By JAMIE POTE
Sports Editor

jamiepote@hotmail.com
On Wednesday evening as this paper is hitting the streets, the Wilmington High School girls' hockey team will have traveled 88 miles to Falmouth to compete in the program's first state tournament game in 11 years.

The No. 21 seed Wildcats (7-10-3) took on the No. 12 seed Falmouth (10-4-5) in a Division 2 state preliminary round game with the winner getting a date with No. 5 Sandwich (17-5) which will also be back on the Cape most likely on Saturday or Sunday.

Last year Falmouth was the No. 15 seed and defeated No. 18 seed Scituate, 6-3, before losing to No. 2 seed Dennis-Yarmouth, 5-4. This season the team has been led by a strong scoring attack from Samantha McKenzie (22-12-34), Ryann McDonald (17-14-31) and Megan Azzato (7-13-20). The team has outscored its opponents 68-40 this season, including 62-26 in head coach Joe McMahon, the team finished their wins and ties.

Wilmington has been outscored 33-31 this season.

This will be Wilmington's first appearance in the tournament since the 2008-'09 season. That season under then ished 8-8-4 overall and qualified for the Division 1 tournament and were defeated by Lexington, 5-1.

The last tournament win came in the 2006-'07 season when McMahon guided the team to the Division 2 State semifinals. The Wildcats advanced to the Final-4 and were defeated by Barnstable, 3-2 in a shootout, which came after beating Notre Dame of Hingham, 6-1, and then Franklin, 3-1.

That season was the last winning season for the program as they finished 19-3-1.

ALL-STATE TRACK

Five members of the WHS Boys Track-and-Field team competed in this past Saturday's All-State Meet held at the Reggie Lewis Center in Roxbury. Senior Greg Adamek finished 15th in the mile at 4:33.80 and Sean Riley was 17th in the 1,000 meters at 2:39.43, and then Adamek joined Pat O'Mahony, Owen Surette and Brian Elderd to finish 17th in the 4x800 relay race with a time of 8:22.89, which was almost 15 full seconds better than their seed time of 8:37.13.

1 seed. It was also the 100th win of his brilliant career, which still has one full season left to add many more victories. There was a brief celebration after the win, probably more so that a regular first round win, but certainly more muted than your 100th win celebration. And that was just fine with Ganley.

"I didn't really think about it like if I win this match it will be my 100th win, because I was more focused on what I had to do," Ganley said. "I knew that wasn't the end for me, and that wasn't what I was there for. I was there to win and to move on in the tournament."

And that he did, winning one more match on Friday shortly after his 100th, and another on Saturday before finally losing in the finals to Connor Keegan of Sandwich by a score of 6-1. He will get the opportunity to add to his win total even before next season when he competes at the All-State tournament which kicks off on Friday at Methuen High School.

While it may not have been his primary focus of the weekend, that didn't make the feat of winning his 100th match any less before, during and after practice with giving him the tools to succeed at such a high level.

"Coach McKenna told me that I have not missed a practice or a meet since freshman year," Ganley said. "I think that is they key to it. You just have to stay strong and keep working at it, and that is what I tried to do."

With Ganley's 3-1 performance at the tournament, he is now at 102 wins for his career -- ranking him 11th all-time in program history -- as he prepares to compete in this weekend's All-State Tournament. He is also 40-5 on the season, putting him on a path towards becoming one of the winningest wrestlers in Wilmington history, perhaps even closing in on Hanley's all-time mark of 153 wins.

"I know that he is very proud of that accomplishment," McKenna said. "And his 40 wins this season are right up there with the best in school history. If he has that type of season again next year, he has a real shot to be up there among the best in school history."

Town Crier Sports Staff's tournament predictions

By JAMIE POTE & MIKE IPPOLITO

It's the final week of February, so that means, the winter state tournament for basketball and hockey is here and the Town Crier Sports Guys Jamie Pote and Mike Ippolito make their bold predictions.

POTE

BOYS HOCKEY

Division 1A:

BC High over Pope Francis

I seem to pick BC High every year and they usually win it. If they do, regardless of how Tewksbury does, I think it would be cool for the Redmen knowing they lost to the 1A champions in a back-and-forth one-goal game.

Division 1:

Reading over Melrose

I'm going with two Middlesex League teams here. Reading should be comfortable on that side of the bracket and while Waltham and Fenwick could be dangerous, I think Melrose will emerge.

Division 2:

Tewksbury over Wilmington

Once again I think No. 1 seed Masconomet will get upset because the CAL is not as strong as the other leagues (hence why they are leaving). I think both hometown teams can get to finals - if they play their style and stay out of the penalty box. I like Wilmington as a sleeper and the other side I think the winner of the possible LS/Tewksbury game will win the section.

Division 3:

Lowell over Cambridge

This bracket is completely wide open and perhaps this will be many upsets. I'm not convinced Bedford and Somerville are better than Lowell, and I think the other side of the bracket is wide open. Shawsheen has as good of a chance as anyone, but Cambridge gets the edge.

GIRLS HOCKEY

Division 1:

HPNA over Arlington

The defending champs of Tewksbury/Methuen could certainly make a deep run as they have been battled tested all season long. But to get to the final, they have to beat many outstanding teams and I just think that will be too tough of a challenge. HPNA seems for real and on the other side, I think Arlington will upset AP - again tougher schedule all season.

Division 2:

Wellesley over Canton

When in doubt, take top two seeds and usually in the lower divisions, that happens - and Wellesley has won at least 42 state titles, right?

GIRLS BASKETBALL

Division 1:

Central Catholic over Cambridge

Woburn is on a tough side with the likes of Billerica and Cambridge so doubt they will come out of it. On the other side, I love the three MVC teams, between CC, Chelmsford and Andover, one will emerge, and I think CC is just too good.

Division 2:

Pentucket over Marblehead

If Wilmington was the No. 3 seed, I really think they would be walking into the Tsongas Arena. So in order to get there as the No. 4 seed, the 'Cats need to win first two games and then upset Pentucket. It can be done if turnovers are limited. But at their gym and their experience, that's incredibly tough.

Division 3:

St. Mary's over Amesbury

By far the easiest bracket to pick. No one will come close to touching St. Mary's. And Amesbury could easily fold on their side.

Division 4:

Maimonides over Matignon

It would be an incredible story if Jay Keane could lead MC to a deep run in the team's first year as a varsity program, but having such a young team that can be tough, so going with top two seeds again.

BOYS BASKETBALL

Division 1:

Lowell over Lynn English

I don't see how Lowell can lose with the backcourt that they have - those two can really shoot and handle the ball. Going Lowell all the way - undefeated season.

Division 2:

Belmont over Malden Catholic

I actually like Burlington and Billerica to pull off some upsets or make some noise. The Murphy kid could easily go off, and Burlington's three-pointer shooters could have several great nights, but usually the better competition you face all season, the better you are in the tournament.

Division 3:

Newburyport over St. Mary's

The Clippers should breeze through that side of the bracket and St. Mary's will have a real tough time getting past Watertown, so I like the momentum for the Cape Ann League guys in this one.

Division 4:

Georgetown over Bishop Fenwick

Totally going out on a limb here, and think this bracket will be upset city. ME could easily take it, but they have beaten Georgetown twice so three times is extremely tough.

IPPOLITO

BOYS HOCKEY

Division 1A:

Pope Francis over BC High

Pope Francis has been denied two years in a row in the finals by BC High, including last year's 4-OT epic. This time the Cardinals get the better of the Eagles.

Division 1 North:

Reading over Waltham

Not very exciting going with the first two seeds, but I don't see anyone coming close to an angry Reading team that just lost in double overtime in the Super 8 play-in. The other side of the bracket is tougher to predict, but I think Waltham comes out of the scrum.

Division 2 North:

Lincoln Sudbury over Boston Latin

It's too bad that Lincoln-Sudbury and Tewksbury are on the same side of the bracket, because they are probably the two best teams and should rightfully meet in the finals. I see Boston Latin upsetting Masco in the second round and making a run to the finals.

Division 3:

Lowell over Shawsheen

Despite only being seeded ninth, I see defending champion Lowell making what I think could be a fairly easy run to the finals. Shawsheen's path will be much more difficult, but the Rams are mostly healthy for perhaps the first time all season and will battle their way to the finals showdown.

GIRLS HOCKEY

Division 1:

Austin Prep over HPNA

One year after having their hearts broken by Tewksbury/Methuen in double overtime of last year's final, the Cougars take the title this time around. They do it by handing powerhouse HPNA their first loss of the season.

Division 2:

Canton over Wellesley

Last season, the Canton boys took home the state title, while the girls fell short with an early round loss to Wellesley. This time around, the Lady Bulldogs will join their male counterparts as D2 state champions.

GIRLS BASKETBALL

Division 1 North:

Chelmsford over Cambridge

Central Catholic could also come out of their side of the bracket, but I think Chelmsford gets the better of them this time around despite their regular season loss to the Raiders. The other side is honestly a toss up for me, but I see Cambridge coming out of a loaded field.

Division 2 North:

Wilmington over Marblehead

I know it goes against conventional wisdom to take the Wildcats in this spot, especially considering their 18-point loss to Pentucket just last week, but I think the Wildcats learned from that game, and with Kylie DuCharme and Jenna Tavanese leading the way, they will get win the rematch and the sectional title.

Division 3 North:

St. Mary's over Amesbury

Just like last year St. Mary's is just too powerful for anyone to stop. For the second year in a row, Amesbury will make a run to the finals, but for the second year in a row they come up short against the powerful Spartans.

Division 4 North:

Fenway over Matignon

Fenway's record might not be as impressive heading into the tournament as it is some years, but until proven otherwise, I have a hard time picking against the three time defending sectional champs.

BOYS BASKETBALL

Division 1 North:

Lowell over Lynn English

Lynn English is the defending state champion, so it is hard to pick against them, but undefeated Lowell looks extremely strong. The final should be an epic battle.

Division 2 North:

Burlington over Belmont

I saw Burlington play a couple of times this year, and came away very impressed. They can shoot the lights out when they are on, and I think they will be for three games.

Division 3 North:

St. Mary's over Newburyport

St. Mary's has come up short two years in a row as the number one seed. Not this time. They take care of business on their side of the bracket, and then win a nail biter over Newburyport in the final.

Division 4 North:

Austin Prep over Cristo Rey

These two Catholic Central League foes split a pair of great battles during the regular season, with six total points being the difference in the final score. Austin Prep takes the rubber match to win the sectional title.

the third period, while he also picked up two assists, on the first and third goals, to lead the No. 13 seed Wildcats to a 3-1 upset victory over the No. 4 seed Marblehead Magicians in a Division 2 North Sectional first round contest played at the Chelmsford Forum.

"(After being outplayed in the first period), we played a better second period. We clamped down defensively and (Cedrone) was terrific. It's gotten to a point where we really have to depend on him. He made some really good saves, particularly late and then we got the goals when we needed to," said head coach Steve Scanlon.

Two years ago as a freshman, Cedrone was one of the two goalies along with Alex Fitzler on the JV team. Then about a week before tryouts last year, he got injured in a Club Hockey game, which forced him to sit out the entire season.

"I went to make a save and dislocated my right knee, and tore my ACL, my MCL and everything else," said Cedrone. "I didn't have surgery, but I did physical therapy for about four months. I wasn't able to play at all last year. I came back and played club before this season started."

That was just the start of the merry-go-round with the goalies on the varsity team. Fitzler came on and played the last handful of games last season, including going 1-1 in the tournament, but he also tore his ACL in his knee during the soccer season forcing him to sit this entire season. Cedrone meanwhile made the team this year as a back-up, but midway through the season, the team's starter got sick, and Cedrone was inserted and has played terrific, making nearly 35 to 40 saves almost every game out, including the 1-1 tie with Burlington, who is now playing in the Super-8 tournament.

"I worked hard this season and played the way I wanted to play. Then I got my chance, and it's been great," said Cedrone.

Just four minutes into Tuesday night's game, the 'Cats fell behind 1-0, as Will Schull had the puck on the left boards. He sent it to the middle of the net, hoping one of his teammates would be there, but instead the puck bounced off a Wilmington player's stick and went in.

"(Sam) was so steady. When a goal like that goes in, it could easily destroy a goalie, but out of everyone on the team, he was the most relaxed after it happened," said Scanlon. "I can't say enough about the kid and the job that he has done for us, especially under the circumstances. He's a focused kid, and relaxed and pretty quiet. He's a goalie, so I don't know what they do, so you leave them alone and he is just extremely steady and focused. When he gives up a goal, he doesn't get rattled. In that way, he reminds me a lot of Drew Foley."

Said Cedrone of the situation, "I guess I was dialed in. I didn't want to get too excited after that first one went in, and I didn't want to lose energy. I tried to stay calm and that's how I play."

After making 18 saves in the first, things settled down a bit in the second period and this time Cedrone made nine saves, but the 'Cats were able to score a second goal, to go up 2-1.

The score remained the same into the third period which included Cedrone making two big left pad saves with Marblehead on the power play.

Then with under five minutes to go, he made the save of the night. Wilmington turned the puck over in their own zone, and the puck was sent to the low slot to a wide open Schull, who turned around and fired a low shot that Cedrone reacted very well to and kicked it away.

"I saw his stick come out and saw that he was going to shoot, so I challenged him and the shot hit me right in the pad," he said.

With two minutes to go, Marblehead pulled their goalie for the extra skater and Cedrone made a number of saves, including another low left pad stop. The puck bounced to his right onto the stick of Matt Pendenza, who quickly sent it to Joe Hill, who once he crossed the red line, fired the puck into the empty-net to seal the victory.

"It was a back and forth game. Sometimes in the periods, we had trouble in our zone, but we figured it out and got the puck out (when we had to)," said Cedrone. "This means everything to us. This is great, but we will get back to practice tomorrow and get ready for the next one."

The next one is Friday, 6 pm vs Triton at the O'Brien Rink in Woburn.

just went over the net." Wilmington seemed to settle down in the final two periods and also slowed down Marblehead.

"I thought we did too. We used our third line more than they used theirs and I thought that would catch up to them in the third period," said Scanlon. "They have some good players over there. That first group they have has like 95 percent of their scoring on the season. We knew that coming in and they tried to hide those guys around, but we did a good job on them. It was a real good game. I thought we did a good job of settling down. I thought the kids who were playing in their first playoff game did a real good job with that."

Wilmington had several good bids in the second period as Matt Pendenza and Riley Fitzgerald were both denied, but then the 'Cats were able to get the game winner, again late in the period. On the power play, senior Joe Hill took the puck the length of the ice, down the right wing boards and he got to the right hand dot, he unleashed a low shot through the five-hole and into the far corner, making it 2-1 with 3:06 to go.

In the third period, Cedrone held off a strong attack with 14 more saves. He made a quick leg save, with the puck going to Pendenza, who moved it up quickly to Hill, who then scored an empty-netter from the red line to ice the victory.

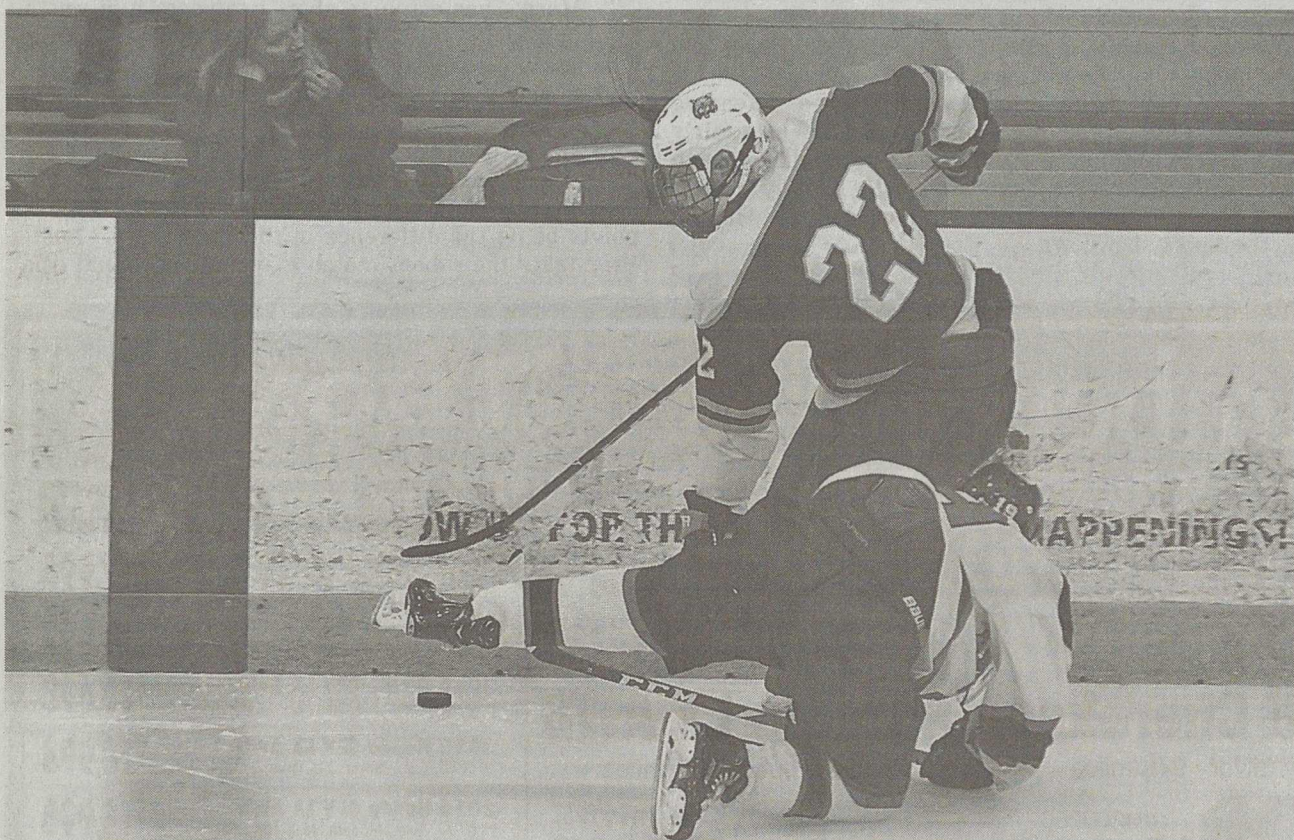

"Two goals for Joe and he's been snakebitten for probably two weeks now so it's good to see him get a couple, including that power play goal," said Scanlon.

Hill had the two goals and Kincaid the other, while, Cedrone picked up two assists, to go along with his 40 saves. Pendenza also had two assists and Jared Venezia had one.

The 'Cats will now move on to the bracket of eight teams with the Triton Vikings.

"We have heard good things about Triton - they have a real good first line and their goalie is very good. We will have our hands full. We will regroup tomorrow with a light day and then crank it back up on Thursday so we are ready to go," said Scanlon.

Redmen dominate North Reading, 4-0

By JAMIE POTE
Sports Editor

jamiepote@hotmail.com
BILLERICA - When you play in the state tournament, especially in hockey, anything can happen. If you run into a streaking team or in particular a hot goalie, powerful teams can have their magical seasons evaporated rather quickly.

On Tuesday night, it appeared as if the Tewksbury Redmen were running into a hot goalie. North Reading's Cameron Alter was a one-man show throughout the entire game, but early on he was absolutely fantastic stopping everything in sight.

With under seven minutes to go in the second period, sophomore Cole Stone ended that when he scored on a beautiful goal with a blazing wrist shot to the top corner and that seemed to get things rolling for the No. 3 seed Tewksbury who went on to overtake the No. 14 seed Hornets, 4-0, in a Division 2 North Sectional first round game played at the Chelmsford Forum.

Stone, Campbell Pierce (his 100th point), John Beatrice and then Pierce with an empty-netter scored the goals.

With the win, Tewksbury (15-3-3) will now advance to the quarterfinal round and face league rival North Andover on Friday night, back at the Forum for a 7:15 pm start.

Tewksbury's first line of Pierce, O'Keefe and Jason Cooke started to really dominate play in the third period. The trio had several chances to score and that finally happened with 11:30 to go as Pierce almost echoed the goal from Stone, ripping a hard shot from the right side, but this one landed in the top left hand corner of the net, making it 2-0, while it also gave Pierce his 100th career point.

Goalie Patrick Letourneau made 13 saves to record the shut out and defensively, Tom Barbati, Caden Connors, Morris and Andrew Camelio all played extremely well.

Wildcats draw Somerville in tournament opener

there are no guarantees, Robinson and her staff had the Wildcats well prepared for their first round matchup.

"Myself and the coaching staff have all been all over Somerville film since we figured out we would be playing them last Thursday with the Lynn Classical win over Winthrop," Robinson said. "Somerville has a really solid post player and some good shooters, so we have been working on some defensive schemes to try and counter Somerville strengths."

If the Wildcats were able to get past Somerville, they would face No. 12 Dracut, who upset No. 5 Burlington on Tuesday night in overtime. They did not face Dracut in the regular season.

"We scrimmaged Dracut back in December, but that feels like years ago and I am sure they are as different as we are from that time," Robinson said. "Dracut does play in a very competitive MVC league, so I am sure they are battle-tested. Honestly, this time of year you have to bring your best game no matter who you play and regardless of how many times you may have met in the regular season."

If the Wildcats are able to continue winning, the competition would only get tougher and tougher, potentially starting with defending state champion and No. 1 seed Pentucket whom the Wildcats could face in the semifinals, if both teams advance that far. Pentucket got a first-round bye and will now play Tewksbury on Thursday night.

Pentucket defeated the Wildcats 68-50 in the first round of the St. Mary's Tournament just several weeks ago, so they have seen just how good the defending champs are. But Robinson says they are not the only threat in the bracket.

"I would have to say that Pentucket is definitely the heavy favorite. We were obviously hoping to stay on the other side of the bracket, but Marblehead and Saugus were able to get the wins they needed to secure the two and three seed," Robinson said. "I do like that we had a chance to play Pentucket in the St. Mary's tournament, it helps give us an idea of what we need to do different or better in order to keep the game competitive.

"Obviously, we need to get to the third round to see them, which won't be easy, but we have worked hard and played one of the toughest non-league schedules in Division 2 North to help us be better prepared to get there."

One thing the Wildcats will definitely have working to their advantage, as least in the early rounds of the tournament, will be the support of the home crowd at Cushing Gymnasium. Robinson and the Wildcats have enjoyed great support all season, and they are hoping to see it continue, or even increase, in the post season.

"Our team has been very lucky to have the support of their families and friends throughout the season," Robinson said. "We are hoping to grow the student section during tournament time, as we could have two home games."

"One thing that is great about Wilmington is that the athletic teams all support each other, and really turn it on during tournament time."

Rams get a bye, await playoff opponent

By MIKE IPPOLITO
Sports Correspondent

sports@yourtowncrier.com

BILLERICA - It has already been a very successful season in many ways for the Shawsheen Tech Boys Hockey team. The Rams overcame numerous injuries throughout the season and battled their way to a 13-6-1 regular season record, including an 8-1-1 mark in the Commonwealth Athletic Conference (CAC) to earn their third consecutive league title.

The Rams and coach Chuck Baker are undoubtedly very happy with how things have gone so far, but now they must turn their focus towards their ultimate goal of winning in the post season. Their regular season success earned them the No. 3 seed and a bye in the first round of the MIAA Division 3 North Tournament. They will open their post season, most likely Saturday or Sunday, against the winner of Thursday night's matchup between No. 6 Latin Academy and No. 11 Northeast.

In reality, the Rams actually opened their post season this past Sunday with a 3-1 loss to Southeastern/West Bridgewater in the State Vocational Tournament championship game at Boston University. The Rams actually played pretty well in this one before falling to the powerful Hawks, who captured their fourth consecutive vocational title with the win.

Brady McFadden gave the Rams a 1-0 lead early in the first period, and the Rams controlled play for much of the period, out shooting the Hawks 15-7. But a pair of penalties late in the period gave Southeastern a 5-on-3 power play for the first 1:25 of the second period, and they were able to get the equalizer just 1:10 into the frame.

A little later in the second period, once again on the power play, the Hawks struck again to take a 2-1 lead and the Rams were unable to get an equalizer of their own. Senior goalie Kam Neault of Tewksbury played well in the loss, making 25 saves.

Baker thought his team played well against the talented Hawks, but he also knows they will need to be even better in the MIAA Tournament.

"We played a great first period, but the penalties at the end of the period really hurt us," Baker said. "We never got back into the first period mode and played a sluggish second. We controlled the play in the third and just could not bury the puck. So, we played well but in a tournament type atmosphere that is not enough. A couple of mistakes, bad calls, bad penalties or lazy play can be the end of your season at this time of the year. Hopefully as a team we now see that and will look to put full periods and games together as a team."

The Rams will look to put those full periods together starting with either Northeast or Latin Academy. The Rams are very familiar with Northeast, having beaten them 6-2 on January 20 in Billerica and again 6-1 on February 3 in Malden. The Rams have not faced Latin Academy this season.

Regardless of who the opponent is, Baker says the Rams success will come down to how well they play, as opposed to who they are playing. And he also cautions that success against an opponent in the regular season does not necessarily translate into success in the post season.

"Beating a team three times is tough, but I am happy with our draw in the bracket. We just need to play our game and do what we do well. Anything can happen during this time of the season, so you never want to feel too confident," Baker said. "I don't know too much about Latin Academy yet. They have played some common opponents, so I can look at those games. They are good though, they are in the tournament."

Cambridge is the No. 2 seed, and is the top seed in the Rams side of the bracket. On the opposite side of the bracket from the Rams is No. 1 Bedford, along with defending sectional champion Lowell. Lowell is seeded only ninth this season, with a record 9-7-4, but they are still clearly one of the favorites to come out of the sectional.

"All of them are very tough and well coached teams," Baker said. "Lowell is one of the teams to beat for sure, even though they are low seed. They are now a Division 2 MVC team that drops to the Division 3 tournament. Somerville, Lowell's first round opponent is a Division 2 team as well."

"It is tournament time. All teams are good. You just need to focus on one game at a time and work to play your best game each night. We will see what happens."

Division 3 North Sectional Tournament

On the court, Shawsheen Boys eliminated by Weston

By MIKE IPPOLITO
Sports Correspondent

sports@yourtowncrier.com

BILLERICA - At the beginning of the season, it was impossible to know what to expect from the Shawsheen Tech Boys Basketball team. The Rams had lost nearly their entire starting lineup from last year's 19-5 team that had advanced to the sectional semifinals and had only two players on their roster who had seen varsity minutes. Not to mention they were under the direction of a new head coach.

It looked like a daunting task was ahead for the Rams, particularly when one of those experienced players left the team midway through the season. But the Rams regrouped and put together a great regular season, going 13-7 on the campaign and earning the No. 6 seed in the Division 3 North Tournament which kicked off on Tuesday night at the Cook Street Pavilion with the Rams taking on No. 11 Weston.

Unfortunately for the Rams, they were unable to keep up with the talented Wildcats, whose 10-10 record hardly indicates how good of a team they are, and for the second year in a row, Shawsheen was eliminated by Weston, this time by a score of 63-43 in front of a packed gym.

With the loss, the Rams ended their season with a record of 13-9 (including a loss in the State Vocational Tournament), while Weston improved to 11-10 and moves on to play No. 3 Newburyport in the quarterfinals at a time and date to be determined.

"We played hard, so I am proud of that," Shawsheen first year coach Joe Gore said. "Credit them, that is a tough team. Hopefully we can build on this."

The biggest problem for the Rams was trying to contain 6'10" Weston center Sawyer McHugh, who was a force in the middle on both offense and defense for the Wildcats, scoring a game high 19 points, to go along with 14 rebounds. When they did contain McHugh, who scored 14 of his points in the first half, his teammate Christos Iatridis took over, scoring 16 second half points, most of them coming on three pointers.

"That is kind of the stat of the night," Gore said. "In the first half he had 14, but we held him to five in the second half, but number 23 (Iatridis) had 16 in the second half. When you say pick your poison, you couldn't be more spot on. We shut him down and they had another guy step up. That is what good teammates do."

The Rams were led by junior guard Jake Tyler, who had 18 points on six three pointers on the night, while senior center Santino Garofalo of Tewksbury closed out his great season with nine points.

The Rams knew they would be up against a stiff challenge with the Wildcats, regardless of what the seeding said, but at the same time, Gore said his team, which had continued to improve all season long, was confident heading into the game.

"We only had two losses on our home court, and both of them happened to be Division One teams (Chelsea and Chelmsford)," Gore said. "These guys, knowing that, came in with confidence. We had protected our home court and only lost to two really good teams. That has kind of been our thing, saying, hey let's go out and battle for four quarters."

Shawsheen's confidence seemed to be well founded, as they trailed just 16-13 at the end of the first quarter, and 31-23 at the end of the half before Weston dominated the third quarter to pull away and come away with the win.

Weston jumped out to a 7-0 lead just two minutes into the game on five points from Isaiah Kacyvenski, but Shawsheen fought back with to tie the game at 7-7 on buckets by James Genetti, Connor Rich and Garofalo. Shawsheen would eventually lead 13-9 with 1:53 left in the half after a basket and a foul by Genetti, but Weston went on another 7-0 run to close out the quarter and led 16-13 after the first eight minutes.

Shawsheen retook the lead at 19-18 with five minutes left in the half on a three pointer by Tyler, but that was the last lead they would hold in the game, as Mayhugh immediately responded with a bucket for a 20-19 lead and Weston would go on a 12-4 run to close out the half, and take a 31-23 lead at the break.

The Rams were still very much in the game at that point, but a cold shooting start to the third quarter while the Wildcats were shooting lights out proved to spell their doom as they trailed 47-32 at the end of three.

Weston extended their lead in the fourth quarter, pushing it to as high as 24 points at 59-35 with 3:35 left behind the hot shooting of Iatridis. The Rams never gave up and managed to close within 19 points at 60-41 with 2:15 left, but could get no closer.

With season now over, Gore was able to look back on what his young and inexperienced team accomplished during his first year as head coach, while also looking ahead to what looks like a promising future. The Rams lose some key players in senior Garofalo, Josiah Martinez of Wilmington, Connor Rich and Larry Bevis, but they bring back a strong core of players who gained a lot of experience this season, led by sophomore guard Jeremy Perez of Tewksbury, juniors Jake Tyler and James Genetti and freshman Mavrick Bourdeau.

"They finished up the season real well," Gore said. "We had one of our better players leave us halfway through the year, and it took us two or three weeks to find our new identity, but once we were able to do that, I thought these guys really came together and really bought in."

"We couldn't be any prouder of these seniors," Gore said. "They left this program in a much better position this year than when we started. We are definitely going to miss those guys, but on the upside, we had virtually the whole team get a ton of varsity experience this season. Some young guys really stepped up and played a ton of minutes. We will be a little bit smaller next year, but we are excited. These guys are totally committed to working for a nine month off season and come back even stronger next year."

Grapplers finish 13th at D1 State Meet

METHUEN - Several members of the Shawsheen Tech Wrestling team competed at the Division 1 State Tournament this past weekend at Methuen High School, and while the Rams did not bring home any individual titles, they still did the program proud, with four of their seven wrestlers finishing in the top seven of their weight class.

Overall, the Rams had one second place finish and one third place finish, while two other wrestlers finished fifth and seventh in their weight classes, respectively. Overall, the Rams had six of their seven wrestlers win at least one match in the two day tournament, as they earned a 13th place finish in the 42-team field, scoring 64 points. Springfield Central took home the team title with 175 points, while St. John's Prep was second with 117 and Brookline was third with 109.5.

Junior Austin Dube led the way for the Rams with a second place finish at 120 pounds. Dube followed up his Division 1 North Sectional title last week with another outstanding effort, winning his first three matches of the tournament, including a 10-6 thriller over Elijah Wallace of Lincoln-Sudbury in the semifinals.

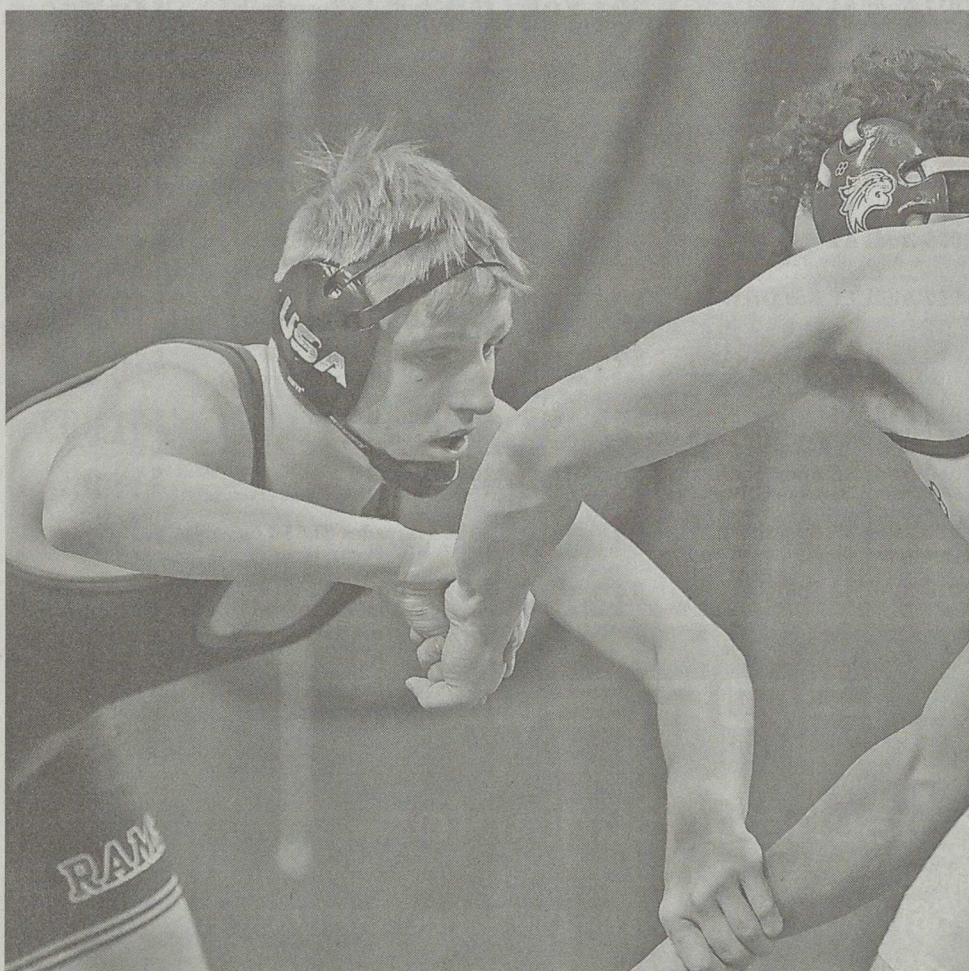

He was denied the title in heartbreaking fashion, losing in overtime to Jake Ice of Minnechaug by a score of 6-4.

Fellow junior Frank Foti, who was coming off not only a sectional championship, but also being named the Outstanding Wrestler last week, put up a great battle at 126 pounds before settling for a third place finish. Foti lost in the semifinals by a score of 6-2 to Aidan Winn of Brockton, but bounced back nicely to win two more matches, including his third place match, with a pin of Nate Chandler from Newton North in a time of 3:15.

Andre Comeau went 3-2 on the weekend to earn his fifth place finish at 195 pounds, pulling off a couple of big upsets along the way. Comeau, who was seeded 12th, took out the number five seed Booker Lester from St. John's Prep in the first round and No. 4 Elijah Thrasher in the quarterfinals before finally being stopped by No. 1 Darby McLaughlin of Springfield Central in the semifinals.

Unfortunately for Comeau he came up against Lester for a second time in the consolation semifinals, and was unable to pull another upset, dropping an 8-2 decision. He came back strong, however, to win his fifth place match and a spot in this weekend's All-State Tournament with a 2-1 decision over Justin Quinton of Westford.

In final regular season game, Redmen skate past Wildcats, 3-2

By JAMIE POTE

jamiepote@hotmail.com
TEWKSBURY - Almost every year, the Wilmington and Tewksbury boys hockey teams play their final regular season game against one another and for the most part, the games have been real close over the years, not to mention great tune-ups as both teams gear up for the post-season.

Heading into last Thursday's match-up, depending on the outcome of the game and the Wakefield contest, the two teams possibly could have played each other in the first round of the tournament, but a 3-2 win by the Redmen secured the No. 3 spot and avoided that, while, Wilmington ended in a three-way tie with Winthrop and Danvers and were seeded 13th after coin flips.

Tewksbury, fresh off a 5-0 win over Haverhill the night before, understandably were skating at a slower pace than usual, especially early on. They were able to pick it up towards the end of the first period and pretty much carried play the rest of the way, getting the game winner early in the third period and holding a 27-12 shot advantage throughout the game.

The Redmen finished the regular season at 14-3-3 and Wilmington closed it out at 9-8-3.

"We had heavy legs (from playing Wednesday night)," said Tewksbury head coach Derek Doherty. "We picked it up and for the most part, I thought we carried the play. We made a couple of mistakes though, that led to some of their goals, but other than that, I think we are ready now for the tournament."

Wilmington had leads of 1-0 and 2-1, but weren't able to close out the Redmen.

"We got what we expected to get, a good, fast run against one of the top teams in the section," said Wilmington head coach Steve Scanlon. "(Tewksbury) put a lot of shots on net and we didn't get that many. We had power play opportunities and once again we had trouble handling the puck. We either had no movement (with the puck) or the puck was fumbled off their sticks. That's the difference between us and a lot of teams. I thought we played hard."

Wilmington took the lead just 5:05 into the game as Christian Robarge was able to feed Jared Venezia, who came off the right circle and put a quick low shot through the 5-hole.

Tewksbury was able to tie it up with 2:25 left in the period. Asa DeRoche won a face-off back to defenseman Caden Connors, whose shot was saved but the rebound was put home by John Beatrice and the 1-1 score stayed through the end of the period.

Wilmington again took the lead, scoring another early period goal. This one came just 2:16 into the second period. Justin Crowley fed Zach Kincaid with a pass, and he came flying down the left wing side before sliding a nice pass across to Riley Fitzgerald, who went top corner to make it 2-1.

The 'Cats were down a man with 3:12 left and Tewksbury took advantage of it, scoring a power play goal with 2:58 left in the period. Again off the draw, Will O'Keefe won it back to Kyle Morris, who quickly gave a pass to Thomas Barbati and his wrist shot through a screen found the back of the net to make it 2-2.

The score stayed the same until 34 seconds into the third period as Campbell Pierce got the game winner on a pass from linemate Jason Cooke.

Wilmington couldn't get much going offensively after that as the forwards seemed pretty fatigued.

"We did look tired and you would think it would be the other way around," Scanlon said. "They played (on Wednesday night) and I don't care who you played against, if you are coming back less than twenty-four hours later, is tough. We thought we could take advantage of that and it looked like it bothered (Tewksbury) early. They were tight a little bit early in the game, but they came on good as the game went on. "The big kid on defense (Barbati) is really helping them and he's a real good player. They also have a good, veteran goalie. They have a real good team and they have been through a lot of wars, going to the Garden last year."

Sam Cedrone made 24 saves in net for the 'Cats and Patrick Letourneau made 10 for the Redmen.

Both teams then had four days to rest before both were in first round tournament action on Tuesday, playing back-to-back with Wilmington facing Marblehead and Tewksbury facing North Reading.

"We feel good going into the tournament and I think the kids will be ready to play," said Doherty. "It's either you win or you don't and you are ready or not. I can tell that they are ready. This year I think our defense is better (than last year) and it's a skilled group. Our first line is obviously good, just real good, and our second line is good and our third line has been OK."

MVC/DCL ALL-STARS

The MVC/DCL announced its all-league and all-stars in boys hockey. Campbell Pierce was named the MVC/DCL

Division 2 Player of the Year and that's an automatic selection to the All-Conference team, which he has been named to for the third straight year. Tom Barbati, Will O'Keefe and Jason Cooke were all named as all-conference selections as well, while, Kyle Morris, Patrick Letourneau and Caden Connors were named as league all-stars.

Academy. Aidan Leffler of Tewksbury entered the tournament after winning the sectional title at 182 pounds, and he performed well in his first ever trip to the state tournament, going 3-2 on the weekend to earn a seventh place finish and alternate status for the All-State Tournament.

Leffler picked up two victories by pin, and then earned a hard fought 10-5 decision over Shawn Asiamah of Springfield Central in his seventh place match.

Diondre Turner or Wilmington (145 pounds) and Lucas Moreira of Tewksbury (220) each went 1-2 in the tournament. Turner earned his lone victory by pin over Luke Corbey of Bridgewater-Raynham, before of bit of bad luck had him squaring off against No. 1 seed Jake Nicolasi of Haverhill in the consolation round. Nicolasi, who had been upset in the quarterfinals of the tournament, earned a major decision win over Turner on his way to a 5-1 weekend and a third place finish.

Moreira earned his lone win with a 10-4 decision over Tyler Parent of West Springfield.

Dube, Foti and Comeau will each wrestle in this weekend's All-State Tournament, which gets underway on Friday at Methuen High School, while Leffler will be an alternate.

TEWKSBURY --

Before the state tournament pairings had been announced, Tewksbury Memorial High School girls' basketball coach Mark Bradley spoke highly about his team's tough and gritty defense, referring to giving up minimal points to some of the top teams in the entire state including Central Catholic, Andover and Pentucket Regional in an endowment game.

That all-around strong defensive effort carried over to Monday night's playoff opener. Before a large crowd, the No. 8 seed Redmen defeated the No. 9 seed Danvers, 50-17, in a Division 2 North first round state tournament game played at Romano Gymnasium.

The win improves

Tewksbury to 12-9 overall and they will now advance to the quarterfinal round to face the No. 1 seed Pentucket Sachems (20-2) on Thursday night at 8 pm. Last year the Sachems defeated Tewksbury, 56-45, in the sectional final before going on to win the state championship title.

The Redmen were also defeated 36-34 by the Sachems several weeks ago in a game that was decided by a controversial call in the final seconds. Pentucket is also coached by John McNamara, who was a former standout player at TMHS.

"They are good," said Tewksbury head coach Mark Bradley. "They have good guard play and they have some very good forwards. They come at you in different areas."
